HOMEMADE B.V.

Amsterdam West Elite Nutrition Initiative: High-Performance Meal Delivery Solution

360-DEGREE MARKET INTELLIGENCE REPORT

Strategic Department • Confidential • April 05, 2026

1. Executive Vision

Homemade B.V. is revolutionizing the corporate food delivery market in Amsterdam by leveraging a unique business model that eliminates high delivery costs and processed food. By connecting passionate home chefs with hidden talents ("Jessicas") to expats and locals seeking high-quality, authentic, affordable home cooking ("Vincenzos"), Homemade offers a more sustainable alternative to traditional food delivery platforms.

With no delivery fleet, Homemade's cost structure is significantly lower, allowing for higher profit margins and more competitive pricing. The platform also provides a range of revenue streams, including standard orders with a 14% commission and a catering program with a 20% commission.

To date, Homemade has onboarded 55 chefs in Amsterdam, with a goal to deepen density in the city to become the default "Home Chef" platform. The company is now focusing on high-protein gourmet meal delivery for elite athletes and fitness enthusiasts in Amsterdam West, partnering with reputable gyms and training centers to offer healthy meal options.

Homemade's growth hacker mindset prioritizes high-impact, actionable hacks for customer acquisition, exploiting competitors' failures and stealing their customers. By filling the gap in market accountability and transparency, Homemade aims to establish itself as the go-to food delivery service for Amsterdam West's health-conscious community.

4. Economic Warfare

Based on the provided data, here's a pricing warfare strategy to ensure our 14% commission model beats the competitors' markup:

Competitor Analysis

- Thuisbezorgd:
  - Average meal price: €8.99
  - Delivery fee average: €2.95
  - Platform fee: €0.56
  - Loyalty program active
  - Promotional mechanics: Loyalty program discounts and seasonal promotions
- Deliveroo:
  - Average meal price: €8.49
  - Delivery fee average: €1.99
  - Platform fee: 14%
  - Loyalty program active
  - Promotional mechanics: Weekly Meal Plans with Discounts for Loyalty Program Members
- UberEats:
  - Average meal price: €10.99
  - Delivery fee average: €2.5
  - Platform fee: 4%
  - Loyalty program active
  - Promotional mechanics: 30% discount for loyalty program subscribers

Pricing Strategy

To beat the competitors' markup, we will focus on two key areas:

1. Price Competitiveness: Our prices should be competitive with the market leaders (Thuisbezorgd and Deliveroo). Given their average meal prices (€8.99 and €8.49 respectively), we can set our average meal price between €7.50 to €9.00 to remain competitive.
2. Commission Structure: Our 14% commission model should be more attractive than the competitors' platform fees. We will maintain a fixed commission rate of 14%, which is lower than UberEats (4%) and Deliveroo (15%).

Pricing Tiers

To cater to different customer segments, we can introduce three pricing tiers:

1. Basic: €7.50 - €8.99 per meal
2. Premium: €9.00 - €12.99 per meal
3. Elite: €13.00 - €20.00 per meal

Loyalty Program and Promotions

To incentivize repeat business, we will introduce a loyalty program with rewards points for every purchase. Customers can redeem these points for discounts on future orders.

We will also offer seasonal promotions, such as percentage off on first orders or bundle deals, to attract new customers and retain existing ones.

Implementation Plan

1. Conduct market research to validate our pricing strategy
2. Launch the new pricing tiers and commission structure

3. Develop a loyalty program with rewards points and promotional mechanics
4. Monitor customer feedback and adjust pricing tiers as needed

By implementing this pricing warfare strategy, we can ensure that our 14% commission model beats the competitors' markup and attracts a loyal customer base in Amsterdam West.

5. Amsterdam Market White-Space

The top 5 unmet needs in the Netherlands from the Reddit posts are:

1. Support for career transition and professional development when moving abroad
2. Resources for managing cultural differences and adapting to a new culture
3. Help for maintaining relationships with family and friends back home
4. Making friends as an adult in a foreign country
5. Coping with feelings of loneliness and isolation when living abroad

6. Holiday Demand Matrix

Holiday Matrix

The holiday season is a prime time to target "Vincenzos" in Amsterdam West with high-protein gourmet meal delivery options. To capitalize on this opportunity, we will create a limited-time offer (LTO) for elite athletes and fitness enthusiasts.

Target Holiday Periods:

- Black Friday - Cyber Monday (November 26–29)
- Christmas Week (December 20–27)

Key Activities:

1. Partnership with Reputable Gyms: Collaborate with FemmeGym West (de Garage) and Vondelgym West to promote our high-protein meal delivery service to their members.
2. Influencer Marketing: Partner with local fitness influencers to showcase our meals and services on social media, targeting the "Vincenzos" demographic.
3. Limited-Time Offer (LTO): Create a special holiday menu featuring high-protein options, available for delivery or pickup at participating gyms.
4. Real-time Tracking and Communication: Implement real-time tracking and transparent communication to ensure timely deliveries and build trust with our customers.

Strategic Goals:

- Achieve a 30% increase in sales during the holiday period
- Acquire a minimum of 50 new "Vincenzos" customers through partnerships with gyms and influencer marketing

Metrics for Success:

1. Sales revenue during the holiday period
2. Number of new customers acquired through gym partnerships and influencer marketing
3. Customer satisfaction ratings (based on real-time tracking and communication)

By executing this holiday matrix strategy, we aim to capitalize on the high demand for convenient and nutritious meals during the holiday season, while building trust with our "Vincenzos" customers and establishing ourselves as their go-to food delivery service in Amsterdam West.
